Investment Managers' Reports

For the six month period ended 30 June 2026

Barings Global Senior Secured Bond Fund

Performance

Barings Global Senior Secured Bond Fund* (the "Sub-Fund") generated a gross return of 2.18% on the Tranche G USD Distribution and under-performed against the performance comparator with a return of 2.41% during the reporting period. The Sub-Fund generated a net return of 1.50% on the Tranche G USD Distribution over the same period.

The global high yield bond market generated a positive total return over the first half of 2026. The first quarter was characterized by elevated volatility, as mixed economic data, geopolitical developments, and changing expectations for monetary policy weighed on risk assets. Government bond yields remained relatively high, and spread widening pressured returns early in the year. In the second quarter, improving market sentiment and a more constructive outlook for global growth supported a recovery across credit markets. Primary issuance remained active across regions, with refinancing continuing to drive the majority of transactions. Corporate fundamentals generally remained stable, and while defaults increased modestly in certain areas, they remained concentrated in issuer-specific situations rather than signaling broader stress. Despite periodic volatility, the asset class remained resilient, supported by attractive income levels, solid technicals, and ongoing investor demand.

Year-to-date ending June 2026, the Sub-Fund under-performed the performance comparator. Underperformance was primarily due to the Sub-Fund's allocation to unrated securities. By rating, security selection within triple-C rated securities benefited relative returns, although was more than offset by weak selection in double-B rated securities. By Industry, selection was particularly strong within Technology & Electronics, although was more than offset by weak selection in Healthcare and Services.

Historical performance is no indicator of current or future performance. The performance data does not take into account any commissions and costs charged when subscribing and redeeming shares.

The Sub-Fund under-performed its performance comparator year-to date. Since its inception in January 2011, the Sub-Fund has outperformed (on a gross basis) its performance comparator.

Market & Outlook

The global economic backdrop has remained resilient, supported by steady consumer activity, continued investment spending, and labor markets that have generally held firm. While evolving trade policy, geopolitical developments, and monetary policy expectations continue to influence markets, high yield bonds have remained well supported by stable corporate fundamentals and a strong technical environment. Demand for income-producing assets has continued to outpace supply, helping sustain valuations and reinforcing the broader stability of the asset class. Corporate borrowers have generally navigated higher financing costs effectively, with leverage and interest coverage metrics remaining relatively stable and default activity largely concentrated in issuer-specific situations. At the same time, investors have become increasingly selective, rewarding companies with durable business models, solid balance sheets, and resilient cash flows. In this environment, the most compelling opportunities in high yield generally lie in areas that offer a balance of income, resilience, and liquidity. While spreads remain near the tighter end of historical ranges, all-in yields continue to provide an attractive source of income, supported by a higher-quality market profile and relatively short duration. As a result, high yield bonds continue to offer a compelling risk-reward proposition. While the outlook remains constructive, increasing dispersion across sectors and issuers highlights the importance of prudent credit selection and active management.

Performance

Barings European High Yield Bond Fund (the "Sub-Fund") generated a gross return of 1.68% on the Tranche S EUR Accumulation and under-performed against the performance comparator with a return of 1.93%* during the reporting period. The Sub-Fund generated a net return of 1.52% on the Tranche S EUR Accumulation over the same period.

The European high yield bond market delivered a positive total return over the first half of 2026. The first quarter was marked by volatility as uneven economic data, geopolitical developments, and broader risk-off sentiment weighed on credit markets. While spreads widened during the period, the market remained supported by generally stable corporate fundamentals. In the second quarter, moderating inflation and an increasingly accommodative European Central Bank supported a more constructive backdrop for risk assets, helping credit spreads recover. Primary market issuance remained active, with refinancing continuing to dominate new deals. Technical conditions remained favorable, supported by investor demand and relatively limited net supply. Despite ongoing macroeconomic uncertainties, the market demonstrated resilience, underpinned by healthy corporate balance sheets, low default activity, and improving sentiment as the year progressed.

Year-to-date ending June 2026, the Sub-Fund under-performed its performance comparator. By rating, security selection within double-B rated securities benefited relative returns, although was more than offset by the Sub-Fund's allocation to triple-B and unrated securities. By Industry, the Sub-Fund's allocation to Financial Services contributed positively to relative performance, while weak selection in Services detracted from relative returns.

Historical performance is no indicator of current or future performance. The performance data does not take into account any commissions and costs charged when subscribing and redeeming shares.

The Sub-Fund underperformed its performance comparator year-to-date. Since its inception in May 2011, the Sub-Fund has outperformed its performance comparator.

Performance

Barings Emerging Markets Corporate Bond Fund (the "Sub-Fund") generated a gross return of 3.31% on the Tranche A USD Accumulation and outperformed against the performance comparator with the return of 2.21%* during the reporting period. The Sub-Fund generated a net return of 3.08% on the Tranche A USD Accumulation over the same period.

The Sub-Fund's overweight allocations to the BB and single-B segments were meaningful contributors to performance, adding 1.18% and 1.10%, respectively. At the sector level, the strongest contributors were Financials (0.82%), TMT (0.68%), and Oil & Gas (0.53%). From a curve standpoint, our positioning at the front-end, i.e. less than 3-years duration, contributed 1.41% followed by holdings in the 3-to-5 year segment (1.21%).

At the issuer level, performance was broadly based. Notable contributors included Braskem Netherlands Finance B.V. (0.36%), the Dutch financing subsidiary of Brazilian petrochemical company Braskem S.A.; Telefónica Móviles Chile S.A. (0.27%), the Chilean mobile telecommunications operator of the Telefónica Group; and Vedanta Resources (0.12%). The only meaningful detractor during the period was NMC Healthcare (-0.07%), one of the largest private healthcare providers in the United Arab Emirates.

The Sub-Fund outperformed its performance comparator year-to-date. Since its inception in April 2014, the Sub-Fund has underperformed its performance comparator.

Market & Outlook

As we look ahead to the second half of 2026, among the factors that could drive further USD strength are the US-based "hyperscalers". In 2026 they went from being significant funders of the US government, deploying their huge cash piles into short term treasuries, to now issuing significant debt. On the equity side the SpaceX IPO will be followed by other AI-themed IPOs all of which are likely to pull hundreds of billions of USD liquidity from markets. This puts the US debt and equity markets in direct competition with the US Treasury, which needs to roll $800 billion per month in 2026.

Liquidity challenges are likely to be short-lived however, as the Trump Administration has the means, motive and opportunity to weaken the USD if it gets too strong. The motive was best expressed in a recent speech by US Secretary of the Treasury Scott Bessent which went under the radar of many investors, who were understandably more focused on transit counts, missiles, drones and tweets. In it, Bessent promoted a new trade policy which is, in part, a reaction to recent rumors that the US went through a "surprisingly large percent of munitions" in a few months of low intensity conflict with a second-tier power. Bessent's stated focus is to prioritize "just-in-case" supply chains over "just-in-time" fulfillment and to do so he outlined a plan for substantial reshoring of a broad array of strategic manufacturing and production.

We will be watching closely how many of these policies the Trump administration will be able to implement in the coming year. Much of that hangs on the results of mid-terms, which are less than 4 months away. If they accomplish even some of their goals it will be consequential for the risk-free rate. Our view is informed by a simple heuristic, if outsourcing to low-cost producers for 30 years had deflationary outcomes for Developed Markets like the US, bringing manufacturing back will likely yield the opposite.

We see active management as even more critical in this environment as we believe select emerging market corporates remain well positioned relative to many developed market peers in their ability to manage inflationary pressures.

The Sub-Fund generated a net return of 3.16% on the Tranche A USD Accumulation over the same period. The market level performance came entirely from interest rates as currencies were a small drag on performance.

After a strong start to the year, a continuation of 2025's favorable market action, March featured a significant sell-off in EMD, resulting from the escalated conflict in Iran. This momentum reversal quickly brought returns into negative territory. Risk off in March was characterized by a flight to USD safety but notably, no corresponding safety bid for US Treasuries. With regards to the second quarter of the year, April brought significant relief to the asset class and our funds outperformed, bringing returns back to positive territory for the year, but not initially enough to fully erase March's sell-off. Within March's sell-off and April's rally there was significant volatility, with markets reacting to seemingly every update from the Middle East. By May however, the funds more than recouped the damage done in March as markets have taken a surprisingly sanguine view of the ongoing war. Oil prices ended May at around $94/bbl, a price level they first hit one week into the conflict and then dropped even more precipitously in June as signs of a peace deal gradually emerged. The favorable environment allowed the Sub-Fund to add another +20 bps of excess return in June.

Nearly all the Sub-Fund's outperformance in the first half of 2026 came from contributions from the Sub-Fund's rates overweights; Colombia, Hungary and South Africa in particular. Performance was partially offset by underweight rate positions in China and India, but these were insufficient to overcome the positive impacts of the positions noted above. On the FX side, the portfolio was also able to add alpha via several positions. Overweights in Brazil and Zambia were the two main sources of that outperformance.

Historical performance is no indicator of current or future performance. The performance data does not take into account any commissions and costs charged when subscribing and redeeming shares.

The Sub-Fund outperformed its performance comparator year-to-date. Since its inception in April 2014, the Sub-Fund has outperformed its performance comparator.

Market & Outlook

As we look ahead to the second half of 2026, among the factors that could drive further USD strength are the US-based "hyperscalers". In 2026 they went from being significant funders of the US government, deploying their huge cash piles into short term treasuries, to now issuing significant debt. On the equity side the SpaceX IPO will be followed by other AI-themed IPOs all of which are likely to pull hundreds of billions of USD liquidity from markets. This puts the US debt and equity markets in direct competition with the US Treasury, which needs to roll $800 billion per month in 2026.

Liquidity challenges are likely to be short-lived however, as the Trump Administration has the means, motive and opportunity to weaken the USD if it gets too strong. The motive was best expressed in a recent speech by US Secretary of the Treasury Scott Bessent which went under the radar of many investors, who were understandably more focused on transit counts, missiles, drones and tweets. In it, Bessent promoted a new trade policy which is, in part, a reaction to recent rumors that the US went through a "surprisingly large percent of munitions" in a few months of low intensity conflict with a second-tier power. Bessent's stated focus is to prioritize "just-in-case" supply chains over "just-in-time" fulfillment and to do so he outlined a plan for substantial reshoring of a broad array of strategic manufacturing and production.

We will be watching closely how many of these policies the Trump administration will be able to implement in the coming year. Much of that hangs on the results of mid-terms, which are less than 4 months away. If they accomplish even some of their goals it will be consequential for the risk-free rate. Our view is informed by a simple heuristic, if outsourcing to low-cost producers for 30 years had deflationary outcomes for Developed Markets like the US, bringing manufacturing back will likely yield the opposite.

We see active management as even more critical in this environment as we believe select emerging market sovereigns remain well positioned relative to many developed market peers in their ability to manage inflationary pressures.

Performance

Barings Income Navigator Fund (the "Sub-Fund") generated a gross return of 2.56% on the Tranche I USD Accumulation and outperformed against the performance comparator with a return of 1.15%* during the reporting period. The Sub-Fund generated a net return of 2.28% on the Tranche I USD Accumulation over the same period.

The portfolio's duration was a neutral contributor to relative performance against the performance comparator. Portfolio duration was maintained in a lower range of 3.0 to 4.0 years compared to 6.15 years for the performance comparator index for a majority of the period. The Sub-Fund continues to manage to a neutral duration target of 3.5 years.

The portfolio's allocation to corporate credit was a main contributor to positive relative performance over the period. The portfolio's allocation across investment grade corporate credit, high yield corporate credit, sovereign credit, and emerging market debt all contributed positively. The Sub-Fund favored allocations across Banking, Energy, Finance Companies and Insurance industries. The Midstream Energy and Banking allocations in the Sub-Fund were the top contributing industry allocations over the period. The Sub-Fund finished the period with a 60% market value allocation to investment grade credit, an 18% market value allocation to high yield credit, an 8% allocation to sovereign credit, and a 2% allocation to emerging market debt, with the balance in securitized assets and Cash.

Historical performance is no indicator of current or future performance. The performance data does not take into account any commissions and costs charged when subscribing and redeeming shares.

The Sub-Fund outperformed its performance comparator year-to-date. Since its inception in November 2014, the Sub-Fund has outperformed its performance comparator.

Market & Outlook

The Federal Reserve maintained its patient stance throughout the May-to-June transition period, holding the federal funds rate steady as economic data continued to paint a picture of measured growth with gradually moderating inflation. Labor market resilience and consumer spending strength have kept the Fed cautious about premature easing, while softer goods inflation and stabilizing shelter costs provide hope for continued progress toward the 2% target. Market pricing for H2 2026 rate cuts has fluctuated with each data release, creating periodic volatility in duration-sensitive assets. For credit markets, this environment of stable-to-slightly-lower rates combined with solid economic fundamentals has proven supportive, allowing spreads to remain well-anchored despite episodic risk-off sentiment. Corporate credit fundamentals remain constructive as Q2 2026 earnings season unfolds. Investment-grade issuers continue to demonstrate operational resilience, with revenue growth moderating but margins holding steady across most sectors. Default activity in high yield remains subdued, with distressed exchanges concentrated in isolated situations rather than reflecting systemic stress. Rating agency actions have been balanced, with selective upgrades in Financials and Utilities offset by isolated downgrades in more cyclical sectors.

Performance

Barings Emerging Markets Debt Blended Total Return Fund (the "Sub-Fund") generated a gross return of 4.96% on the Tranche A USD Accumulation and outperformed against the performance comparator with a return of 2.36%* during the reporting period. The Sub-Fund generated a net return of 4.72% on the Tranche A USD Accumulation over the same period.

The market level performance came primarily from local rates and currencies as the asset class continued to build on momentum from 2025. This was further supported by returns from EM Sovereign Hard Currencies, which saw a remarkable recovery from the sell-off in March as a consequence of the outbreak of the conflict in the Middle East. Spreads briefly exploded higher but then quickly compressed back to decade plus tight.

If you remove March from the first half of 2026 the market action year to date has been remarkably positive. Risk off in March was characterized by a flight to USD safety but notably, no corresponding safety bid for US Treasuries. As the second part of the quarter dragged on, April brought significant relief to the asset class and our funds outperformed, bringing returns back to positive territory for the year, but not initially enough to fully erase March's sell-off. The favorable environment allowed the Sub-Fund to add another +20 bps of excess return in June.

All EM sleeves were additive to performance including EM Sovereigns, local rates, EM Corporates and FX. Futures, used to hedge portfolio level duration detracted. From a relative perspective against the blended index, local rates and EM Sovereigns were the leading outperformers. Top contributors on a country level include Colombia (FX, rates, Sovereign and Corporates), Hungary (FX and local rates) South Africa (local rates), Brazil (FX, rates, Sovereign and Corporates) and Sri Lanka (Sovereign). Detractors include South Korea (Long FX), Czech (local rates and Long FX) and China (Short FX).

The Sub-Fund generated a net return of 4.32% on the Tranche A USD Accumulation over the same period.

Returns were driven by spreads and carry as they tightened -2 bps at the index level during the year and delivered significant yields. Rates, however, were a headwind for the asset class with US Treasuries ending 26 bps (4.42%) higher at the end of June 2026 than where they ended 2025 (4.16%).

If you remove March from the first half of 2026 the market action of year to date has been remarkably positive. The favorable environment allowed the Sub-Fund to add another further outperformance in June.

The top positive contributors for the Sub-Fund in the first half of 2026 were Sri Lanka, Mexico, Guatemala, Brazil and Honduras, all countries where the Sub-Fund had sizeable overweights. The largest detractors for the year were the Sub-Funds' voids and underweights since the market rallied substantially in what was largely a risk-on year. At the top of the list were underweight positions in Venezuela, Panama, Angola, Ukraine and Oman. The Sub-Fund benefited from its long-standing avoidance of the Gulf region as the yields on offer are only marginally higher than US Treasuries and too low to warrant the additional risk, which showed up in spades in 2026.

Historical performance is no indicator of current or future performance. The performance data does not take account of any commissions and costs charged when subscribing and redeeming shares.

Performance

Barings U.S. High Yield Bond Fund (the "Sub-Fund") generated a gross return of 3.02% on the Tranche A USD Accumulation and outperformed against the performance comparator with a return of 1.96%* during the reporting period. The Sub-Fund generated a net return of 2.79% on the Tranche A USD Accumulation over the same period.

The U.S. high yield bond market generated a positive total return over the first half of 2026. The first quarter was characterized by elevated volatility, as mixed economic data, geopolitical developments, and broader risk-off sentiment weighed on credit markets. In the second quarter, improving risk sentiment and greater confidence in the resilience of the U.S. economy helped support a recovery in credit markets. Carry remained a meaningful contributor to performance, while spreads retraced a portion of their earlier widening. Issuance activity remained healthy, with refinancing continuing to account for the majority of new deals. Despite ongoing macro crosscurrents, the market remained well supported by stable corporate fundamentals, manageable leverage levels, and favorable supply-demand dynamics.

Year-to-date ending June 2026, the Sub-Fund outperformed the performance comparator. Strong credit selection across rating categories and sectors drove relative performance during the period. By rating, security selection within triple-C and double-B rated securities contributed to outperformance, while weak selection in triple-B rated securities modestly detracted. By Industry, strong selection within Transportation and Basic Industry boosted relative returns.

Historical performance is no indicator of current or future performance. The performance data does not take into account any commissions and costs charged when subscribing and redeeming shares.

The Sub-Fund outperformed its performance comparator year-to-date. Since its inception in February 2016, the Sub-Fund has outperformed (on a gross basis) its performance comparator.

Market & Outlook

The global economic backdrop has remained resilient, supported by steady consumer activity, continued investment spending, and labor markets that have generally held firm. While evolving trade policy, geopolitical developments, and monetary policy expectations continue to influence markets, high yield bonds have remained well supported by stable corporate fundamentals and a strong technical environment. Demand for income-producing assets has continued to outpace supply, helping sustain valuations and reinforcing the broader stability of the asset class. Corporate borrowers have generally navigated higher financing costs effectively, with leverage and interest coverage metrics remaining relatively stable and default activity largely concentrated in issuer-specific situations. At the same time, investors have become increasingly selective, rewarding companies with durable business models, solid balance sheets, and resilient cash flows. In this environment, the most compelling opportunities in high yield generally lie in areas that offer a balance of income, resilience, and liquidity. While spreads remain near the tighter end of historical ranges, all-in yields continue to provide an attractive source of income, supported by a higher-quality market profile and relatively short duration. As a result, high yield bonds continue to offer a compelling risk-reward proposition. While the outlook remains constructive, increasing dispersion across sectors and issuers highlights the importance of prudent credit selection and active management.

The Sub-Fund generated a net return of 2.51% on the Tranche I USD Accumulation over the same period.

The global high yield bond market generated a positive total return over the first half of 2026. The first quarter was characterized by elevated volatility, as mixed economic data, geopolitical developments, and changing expectations for monetary policy weighed on risk assets. Government bond yields remained relatively high, and spread widening pressured returns early in the year. In the second quarter, improving market sentiment and a more constructive outlook for global growth supported a recovery across credit markets. Primary issuance remained active across regions, with refinancing continuing to drive the majority of transactions. Corporate fundamentals generally remained stable, and while defaults increased modestly in certain areas, they remained concentrated in issuer-specific situations rather than signaling broader stress. Despite periodic volatility, the asset class remained resilient, supported by attractive income levels, solid technicals, and ongoing investor demand.

Historical performance is no indicator of current or future performance. The performance data does not take into account any commissions and costs charged when subscribing and redeeming shares.

Year-to-date ending June 2026, the Sub-Fund outperformed its performance comparator. Strong credit selection across rating categories, regions and sectors drove performance during the period. Credit selection across triple-C and double-B credits, and Telecommunications contributed positively to relative performance. Holdings within unrated securities and weak selection in Services partially detracted from relative returns.

Notes to the Financial Statements

For the six month period ended 30 June 2026

1. Basis of Measurement

These condensed interim unaudited financial statements have been prepared in accordance with IAS 34 'Interim Financial Reporting'. The condensed interim unaudited financial statements should be read in conjunction with the annual report and audited financial statements for the financial year ended 31 December 2025, which have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS"), the interpretations adopted by the International Accounting Standards Board ("IASB") as adopted by the European Union ("EU") and in accordance with Irish statute comprising the Companies Act, 2014 and the European Union (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) (Amendment) Regulations 2026 and under the Central Bank (Supervision and Enforcement) Act 2013 (Section 48(1)) (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2026, (together, the "CBI UCITS Regulations").

The condensed interim unaudited financial statements are prepared under the historical cost convention as modified by the revaluation of financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss. In preparation of the condensed interim unaudited financial statements in conformity with IAS 34 the Company is required to make certain accounting estimates and assumptions. Actual results may differ from these estimates and assumptions. The Directors believe that any estimates used in preparing the financial statements are reasonable and prudent. Critical accounting estimates are those which involve the most complex or subjective judgements or assessments. The areas of the Company's business that typically require such estimates are the determination of the fair value of financial assets and liabilities.

These financial statements were prepared on the going concern basis.

The registered number of the Company is 491487.

2. Material accounting policies

The accounting policies used in the preparation of these financial statements are consistent with those used in the Company's most recent annual financial statements for the financial year ended 31 December 2025.

In accordance with IAS 34 the comparative figures included for the Statement of Financial Position relate to the previous financial year ended 31 December 2025, while the comparative figures included for the Statement of Comprehensive Income, Statement of Changes in Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Shares and Statement of Cash Flows relate to the six month period ended 30 June 2025.

The condensed interim financial statements as at 30 June 2026 are unaudited. We note that the statutory auditor's report in the audited financial year end financial statements as at 31 December 2025 was unqualified.

New standards, amendments and interpretations issued and effective for the six month period beginning 1 January 2026

The following new and amended standards and interpretations are not expected to have a material impact on the Company's financial statements:

- First-time Adoption of International Financial Reporting Standards (Amendments to IFRS 1).
- Financial Instruments: Disclosures and its accompanying Guidance on implementing (Amendments to IFRS 7).
- Financial Instruments (Amendments to IFRS 9).
- Consolidated Financial Statements (Amendments to IFRS 10).

A number of new standards, amendments to standards and interpretations issued but are not effective for six month period 1 January 2026, and have not been early adopted in preparing these financial statements.

- IFRS 18: Presentation and Disclosure in Financial Statements was issued in April 2024 and applies to an annual reporting period beginning on or after 1 January 2027. IFRS 18 replaces IAS 1 "Presentation of Financial Statements". IFRS 18 aims to improve financial reporting by requiring additional defined subtotals in the statement of comprehensive income, requiring disclosures about management-defined performance measures and adding new principles for grouping (aggregation and disaggregation) of information. The Company is still in the process of assessing the impact of the new accounting standard, particularly with respect to the structure of the Company's statement of profit or loss, the statement of cash flows and the additional disclosures required for management-defined performance. The Company is also assessing the impact on how information is grouped in the financial statements, including for items currently labelled as "other".

8. Fair value hierarchy

In accordance with IFRS 13 the Company classifies fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements.

The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Level 1 - Quoted market price in an active market for an identical instrument.
- Level 2 - Valuation techniques based on observable inputs. This category includes instruments valued using: quoted market prices in active markets for similar instruments; quoted prices for similar instruments in markets that are considered less than active; or other valuation techniques where all significant inputs are directly or indirectly observable from market data.
- Level 3 - Valuation techniques using significant unobservable inputs. This category includes all instruments where the valuation technique includes inputs not based on observable data and the unobservable inputs could have a significant impact on the instrument's valuation. This category includes instruments that are valued based on quoted prices for similar instruments where significant unobservable adjustments or assumptions are required to reflect differences between the instruments.

Valuation Framework

The Company has an established control framework with respect to measurement of fair values. This framework includes a Valuations Committee which is independent of front office management. Specific controls include:

- Review and approval of valuation methodologies;
- Review and approval process for changes to pricing models;
- Review of unobservable inputs and valuation adjustments;
- Review of independent third party pricing sources; and
- Review of prices where no third party pricing source is available.

The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement is categorised in its entirety is determined on the basis of the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. For this purpose, the significance of an input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety. If a fair value measurement uses observable inputs that require significant adjustment based on unobservable inputs, that measurement is a Level 3 measurement. Assessing the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgement, considering factors specific to the asset or liability.

The determination of what constitutes 'observable' requires significant judgement by the Company. The Company considers observable data to be that market data that is readily available, regularly distributed or updated, reliable and verifiable, not proprietary and provided by independent sources that are actively involved in the relevant market. The majority of holdings as at 30 June 2026 was based on broker quotes received from Markit Group Limited (broker quotes are estimates; actual values could differ significantly). The remainder was priced from market makers and other pricing providers providing quotes directly to the Investment Managers or the Administrator and were classified as Level 2. Where only single broker quotes are obtained for particular holdings, these holdings are classified as either Level 2 or Level 3 depending on trading and inputs into the price. The Investment Managers independently review the prices received as single broker quotes and ensure that they are in line with expectations.

If a quoted market price is not available on a recognised stock exchange or from a broker/dealer for non-exchange traded financial instruments, the fair value of the instrument is estimated using valuation techniques, including use of recent arm's length market transactions, (i.e. an exit price) reference to the current fair value of another instrument that is substantially the same, discounted cash flow techniques, option pricing models or any other valuation technique that provides a reliable estimate of prices obtained in actual market transactions. Where other pricing models are used, inputs are based on market data at the Statement of Financial Position date.

Fair value for unquoted equity investments is estimated, if possible, using applicable price/earnings ratios for similar listed companies adjusted to reflect the specific circumstances of the issuer if a quoted price is not available from a recognised market, or is unrepresentative in the opinion of the Directors or their delegate, such a security shall be valued, by estimating with care and in good faith the probable realisable value of the investment, by the Directors or their delegate or a competent person, which may be one of the Investment Managers (appointed by the Directors and each approved for the purpose by the Depositary) or valued at the probable realisation value estimated with care and in good faith by any other means provided that the value is approved by the Depositary.

The Company's Level 3 investments have been valued using unadjusted inputs that have not been internally developed by the Company which involved using single broker quotations for these securities.

The Company determines the fair value for corporate bond instruments using independent, unadjusted indicative broker quotes. A broker quote is generally not a binding offer. The categorisation of corporate bond instruments is dependent if the broker quotes reflect actual current market conditions, or if they are indicative prices based on brokers valuation models, depending on the significance and observability of the inputs to the model.

For corporate bond instruments that have been categorised as Level 2, fair value has been determined using independent broker quotes based on observable inputs. If it could not be verified that the valuation is based significantly on observable inputs, then the investments would fall into Level 3.

The Company considers observable data to be that market data that is readily available, regularly distributed or updated, reliable, not proprietary, and provided by independent sources that are actively involved in the relevant market.

The table below sets out information about significant unobservable inputs used at 30 June 2026 in measuring financial instruments categorised as Level 3 in the fair value hierarchy:

Sensitivity of Level 3 assets measured at fair value to changes in assumptions

The results of using reasonably possible alternative assumptions for valuing the Level 3 assets may result in the fair value estimate and recoverability of the assets being subject to uncertainty and a range of possible outcomes are likely. Such differences, if any, may have a material effect on the overall portfolio as at 30 June 2026 or as at 31 December 2025.

If the value of Level 3 securities increased/(decreased)* by 5%, the effect on the Company's NAV would be US$7,216,960 (31 December 2025: US$7,558,186).

*The amounts reflected are inclusive of all Funds in the Company, not just those marketed in Switzerland.

Transfers between levels of the fair value hierarchy are deemed to have occurred at the end of the six month period/financial year and are deemed to have occurred when the pricing source or methodology used to price an investment has changed which triggers a change in level as defined under IFRS 13. There were no transfers from Level 2 to Level 3 at the six month period end as shown in the reconciliation above.

For each class of assets and liabilities not measured at fair value in the Statement of Financial Position but for which fair value is disclosed, IFRS 13 requires the Company to disclose the level within the fair value hierarchy which the fair value measurement would be categorised and a description of the valuation technique and inputs used in the technique.

Cash and cash equivalents include deposits held with banks and other short-term investments in an active market and they are categorised as Level 1. Cash held at broker (including positive cash collateral) and cash due to broker (including negative cash collateral) are categorised as Level 2.

Receivable for securities sold and other receivables include the contractual amounts for settlement of trades and other obligations due to the Company. Payable for securities purchased and other payables represent the contractual amounts and obligations due by the Company for settlement of trades and expenses. All receivable and payable balances are categorised as Level 2.

The puttable value of redeemable participating shares is calculated based on the net difference between total assets and all other liabilities of each Sub-Fund within the Company in accordance with the Company's offering memorandum. A demand feature is attached to these shares, as they are redeemable at the holders' option and can be put back to the Sub-Funds at any dealing date for cash equal to a proportionate share of the Sub-Fund's NAV attributable to the share tranche. The fair value is based on the amount payable on demand. As such, Level 2 is deemed to be the most appropriate categorisation for net assets attributable to holders of redeemable participating shares, as they are largely based on inputs other than quoted market prices included within Level 1 that are observable either directly or indirectly.

ESG Integration

The Investment Managers integrate ESG (“Environmental Social & Governance”) information into the investment process across all asset classes. Through fundamental analysis, the Investment Managers seek to gain a comprehensive understanding of the factors that influence the sustainability of investments. The Investment Manager consider ESG information alongside other crucial variables that may impact an investment’s risks and returns over time. In particular, the Investment Managers consider ESG criteria in relation to specific industry and sector trends and characteristics to identify the risks of an investment. Once invested, the Investment Managers continue to monitor each investment to ensure their thesis, including that on ESG matters, remains intact and that an investment’s risk and return profile remains attractive relative to other opportunities available in the market. Sustainability risks that the Investment Managers may consider are environmental, social or governance events or conditions that, if they occur, could cause an actual or a potential material negative impact on the value of the investment, examples of which include physical environmental risks, transition risk (e.g. investee company assets losing their financial value because of tightening of environmental legislation) or liability risk (e.g. risk of liability due to a breach of human/employee rights considering the jurisdiction of the investee company).

All Sub-Funds integrate ESG into their investment process but the following Sub-Funds will also promote ESG by investing or seeking to positively influence practices to improve ESG characteristics and have been brought into scope of Article 8 of the Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (“SFDR”) and can be categorised as “Light Green” ESG products:

- Barings Global Senior Secured Bond Fund
- Barings European High Yield Bond Fund
- Barings Global High Yield Bond Fund
- Barings Emerging Markets Local Debt Fund
- Barings Emerging Markets Corporate Bond Fund
- Barings Emerging Markets Debt Short Duration Fund
- Barings Income Navigator Fund
- Barings Emerging Markets Debt Blended Total Return Fund
- Barings Emerging Markets Sovereign Debt Fund
- Barings U.S. High Yield Bond Fund

Please refer to the Prospectus for further details on ESG integration. Third-party data and research form one input to the Investment Managers ESG integration and stewardship work. While third-party data providers, peer research, or direct interactions with companies and stakeholders may be used to inform the Investment Managers ESG scoring and analysis, greater importance is placed on the Investment Managers own fundamental, qualitative, and quantitative analysis and research.

The Investment Manager’s dedicated data governance team performs quality checks on internal and third-party ESG data. The team runs data quality checks on monthly reported portfolio-level data, where outliers are flagged based on month-over-month changes and further research is done at the holdings level to determine the cause of change. The team also runs monthly data quality checks on internal data. The Investment Managers portfolio solutions and analytics team also supports data governance efforts by providing several quality checks to validate the completeness of the proprietary ESG scores. These checks may include checking ESG score values, monitoring changes in updated scores, and whether scores have been updated in a timely fashion.

The investments underlying the other Sub-Funds do not take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

9. Efficient Portfolio Management

Each of the Sub-Funds may use Financial Derivative Instruments (“FDIs”) for efficient portfolio management. The efficient portfolio management purposes for which the Company intends to employ FDIs are reduction of risk, reduction of cost and the generation of additional capital or income for the relevant Sub-Fund with an appropriate level of risk, taking into account the risk profile of the Sub-Fund and the general provisions of the CBI UCITS Regulations. The Company may use various types of derivatives for these purposes, including, without limitation, forwards, futures, options, swaps (including but not limited to total return swaps, credit default swaps, currency swaps, swaptions and interest rate swaps) and contracts for differences for these purposes.

The foreign currency risk that exists to investors in the non-base currency share tranches is mitigated by a share tranche hedging programme.

9. Efficient Portfolio Management (continued)

During the six month period the Company entered into forward foreign currency exchange contracts, futures contracts, options, interest rate swaps, credit default swaps and currency swaps for efficient portfolio management purposes. Forward foreign currency exchange contracts are entered into by GSSB Fund, GHYB Fund, EMCB Fund, EMLD Fund, EMDSD Fund, IN Fund, EMDBTR Fund, EMSD Fund, USHYB Fund and DEMHYB Fund to hedge non-US$ denominated assets back to US$, the Sub-Funds' base currency. Forward foreign currency exchange contracts are entered into by EHYB Fund to hedge non-€ denominated assets back into €, the Sub-Funds' base currency. EMDBTR Fund use forward foreign currency exchange contracts to take active foreign exchange exposure. Futures contracts are entered into by EMCB Fund, EMDBTR Fund, EMSD Fund and IN Fund. Details of the gains/(losses) relating to these derivative instruments are contained in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

The Company shall comply with the conditions and limits laid down from time to time by the CBI under the CBI UCITS Regulations.

Forward foreign currency exchange contracts are recognised at fair value on the date on which a derivative contract is entered into and are subsequently re-measured at their fair value. All forward foreign currency exchange contracts are carried as assets when fair value is positive and as liabilities when fair value is negative. Any changes in fair value are recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

The fair value of forward foreign currency exchange contracts that are not exchange traded is estimated at the amount that the Sub-Fund would receive or pay to terminate the contract at the six month period/financial year end date taking into account current market conditions and the current creditworthiness of the counterparties.

The unrealised gain or loss on open forward foreign currency exchange contracts is calculated as the difference between the contract price and the forward price as at six month period/financial year end.

Futures contracts are commitments either to purchase or sell a designated financial instrument, currency, commodity or an index at a specified future date for a specified price and may be settled in cash or another financial asset. Futures are standardised exchange traded contracts. Initial margin requirements for futures are met in cash or other instruments, and changes in the futures contract values are settled daily. Futures are measured initially at fair value on the date on which the derivative contract is entered into and subsequently remeasured at fair value. Futures contracts have little credit risk because the counterparties are futures exchanges. Any changes in fair value are recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

IRSs are used for trading purposes. IRSs are measured initially at fair value on the date on which the derivative contract is entered into and subsequently remeasured at fair value. Fair values are obtained from counterparties or from quoted market prices in active markets, including recent market transactions, and from valuation techniques using discounted cash flow models and option pricing models as appropriate. IRSs are included in assets when the fair value is positive, and in liabilities when the fair value is negative.

In a CDS, one party makes payments to another party in exchange for the right to receive a specified return (or to put a security) if a credit event (e.g. default or a similar event) occurs with respect to a reference entity or entities. The Company may use credit default swaps contracts to provide a measure of protection against defaults of sovereign or corporate issues (i.e. to reduce risk where the Sub-Fund owns or has exposure to the issuer) or to take an active long or short position with respect to the likelihood of a particular issuer's default. The maximum exposure the Company has in selling credit protection is equal to the notional amount of such CDS contracts. CDS's are measured initially at fair value on the date on which the derivative contract is entered into and subsequently remeasured at fair value.

For CDSs on asset-backed securities, a credit event may be triggered by various occurrences, which may include an issuer's failure to pay principal, maturity extension, rating downgrade or write-down. For CDS contracts on corporate or sovereign issuers, a credit event may be triggered by occurrences such as an issuer bankruptcy, failure to pay interest or principal, repudiation/moratorium and/or restructuring. Any changes in fair value are recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

A currency swap is an interest rate swap in which the cash flows are in different currencies. Upon initiation of a currency swap, the counterparties make an initial exchange of notional principals in the two currencies. During the life of the swap, each party pays interest (in the currency of the principal received) to the other. At the maturity of the swap, the parties make a final exchange of the initial principal amounts, reversing the initial exchange at the same spot rate.

Options are derivative financial instruments that give the buyer, in exchange for a premium payment, the right but not the obligation to either purchase from (call option) or sell to (put option) the writer a specified underlying instrument at a specified price on or before a specified date. Daily fluctuations in the value of the option contract are recorded for financial reporting purposes as unrealised gains or losses by the Sub-Funds and are recorded as a realised gain or loss when the position is closed.

The best evidence of fair value of a derivative at initial recognition is the transaction price. Subsequent changes in the fair value of any derivative instrument are recognised immediately in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

17. Russia/Ukraine conflict

The ongoing conflict between Russia and Ukraine has led to significant disruption and volatility in the global stock market. As a result of this, the fair value of Russian securities held within the Sub-Funds have experienced a sharp decline since early 2022. As a consequence of this, management made the determination to value all Russian sovereign local bonds, sovereign hard currency debt (USD / EUR) and corporate bonds on a bid basis and Ukrainian sovereign local bonds on either a bid basis or straight vendor marks. This was based on the current restrictions on trading due to sanctions and market liquidity. Exposure details at 30 June 2026 and 31 December 2025 are outlined in the table below. The ongoing ramifications of the conflict may not be limited to Russia and Russian companies or Ukraine but may spill over to other regional and global economic markets, and the extent of the resulting impact remains uncertain. Barings continues to monitor the situation in Ukraine and consider appropriate measures for the affected Sub-Funds.
